Bangor, July 27th, 1869.

One of the best cards of the Democratic wire-workers has been the alleged corruption in Congress. Concealing themselves behind the general statement of that charge, they have avoided any direct attack upon individual members, but have succeeded to some extent in poisoning the public opinion upon the subject. The truth is that Congressional bribery or mal-practice is a myth of those inventive geniuses who rely upon the credulity of their followers for the success of any falsehood. There are cases of corruption in Congress as elsewhere, but as a whole we believe Congress to be as free from evil as any body of public men of equal extent that ever assembled in this country. Mr. Parton has recently published an able paper upon this subject in which he shows the improbability of any wholesale corruption among Congressmen, and the letter from Mr. Pike published yesterday seems to confirm that idea. Senator Wilson, also, who never has been suspected of any improper practices or connections, writes a letter to Mr. Parton, in which he says:

"I have read your article in the Atlantic of the present month, and write to thank you for it, and to express my surprise at the perfect truthfulness of your statement. How you came to see matters so clearly in the time you were in Washington I cannot comprehend. I have been in the Senate nearly fifteen years, and I know your representation is the real truth."

The Democratic party in Massachusetts have learned something at last, namely, that without being remodelled it cannot hope for the suffrages of an enlightened people. But they go to work backwards as ever, and will only make themselves ridiculous enough to deserve a more than common popular rebuke. They expect to divide their ticket, putting through a conservative Republican for Lieutenant Governor, in order to entice the dissatisfied from all shades of opinion into the support of their dubious and varied notions. Their mistake is again in not surrendering unconditionally to the people. Making a pretence of abandoning their old ground, they still march to the music of forgotten ideas. Pretending to live in the present, they really dwell upon the past and draw their inspiration from the Bourbon generation that ruled them before the rebellion opened all respectable eyes. If Democracy would ever succeed it must not be Democracy as the rebellion left it. The people will accept no half-way surrender, but they demand a regeneration of Democratic dry bones.

The evident intention of the Richborn party to precipitate matters is shown by their calling their county conventions previously to those of the regular Republican party. If their idea of only advancing the temperance cause were sincere, why not wait till after they find whether the movement is necessary? Why not abide by the Republican ship till they find it sails unsatisfactorily? Conceding all the claims they set up for devotion to temperance, we cannot avoid the suspicion that the determination to inaugurate a third party existed long since, regardless of cause or consequence. They promised before the State convention that if any candidate, except Gov. Chamberlain were presented they should support him. Now while presenting no personal or special objections of any sort, they carry the division into the county nominations. Why not wait till a candidate for a bolt is presented? It seems to us that by this precipitate action the Richborn men are exposing their real animus to be not so much the solid welfare of temperance as the formation of a new party whose organization a few assumed leaders can control for their personal satisfaction.

The Tammany Sachems hold a meeting in their hall in New York on Monday evening for the purpose of uttering a complaint against the Administration of Gen. Grant; because it has not, in the view of those, correct statesmen, maintained the right of our citizens abroad. Richard O'Gorman, Mayor Hall, Wm. E. Robinson, and other prominent men in the party made speeches advocating a vigorous and semi-warlike policy on the part of our government to enforce respect. A dispatch was received from Gov. Hoffman, in which he announced himself opposed to peace under the present circumstances of the imprisonment of American citizens abroad. In fact, the expression of the assembly was too emphatically favorable to more vigorous measures in dealing with our neighbors to be misunderstood. What becomes, then, of the loud denunciations of such a policy by the Democratic press only a few short weeks ago? Democracy is plastic and capable of being moulded into almost any form, but it does seem a little more than ordinarily singular for a party to take opposite positions in the space of a month.

Horace Greeley, who has just returned from a trip through Virginia, does not give very encouraging accounts of the crops. He states that a drouth has prevailed for several weeks in a portion of that State, and the average standard of corn is miserable. He saw ten thousand acres that will not yield 5 bushels to the acre, and much of it scarcely an ear of corn. Wheat and oats are also light. He thinks northern enterprise and settlement in Virginia will mainly concentrate around the mines of iron, coal, copper, lead, gypsum, &c., where alone fortunes can be rapidly accumulated.

DISRESPECTFUL TO THE JUDGE.—The Daily Times, a Democratic paper at Portsmouth, N. H., has been reading Judge Abbott's letter to the New York Democrats, and doesn't like it, because the Judge is willing to consider reconstruction as settled. The editor advocates a ripping up and tearing out by the roots of all the wrong work of the last half dozen years, and adds:

And as it is evident that the true, bold, aggressive, fighting Democracy, armed with the right, can except no help from such timid, chicken-hearted, harmless men as Judge Abbott, we wish they would have some enough to get themselves back in the rear out of the way.

Take care of the baggage, Judge, and do please hold your gaitlings together. You make us sick. There is no fight in you, and your "blab" is demoralizing to the very elect. You would destroy the best disciplined army that ever existed in a very short space of time. In the name of all that is good and worth saying this time for eternal words, do please build that unruly member of yours.

The Bangor and Winterport Railroad Loan Bill.

To the Editor of the Daily Whig:

Some of our citizens express much feeling relative to the action of the City Council upon the Winterport Railroad loan bill. It is not pleasant to criticise harsh by the action of brother members of the same body, yet our citizens ought to know how their servants have managed a matter of so much importance to the loading of some $200,000 of public credit in. July 12th, both branches of the City Government voted to call a meeting of the citizens of Bangor to vote upon the acceptance of the Winterport Railroad loan bill. At the next subsequent meeting the Board of Aldermen rescinded this vote on the ground that their action was without the constitution. This was certainly honorable. The Common Council refused to concur in the vote to rescind. They did concur with the Aldermen in appointing a committee to examine the charter and clean bill, &c., &c., and report if the interests of the city were properly secured therein or thereby! This committee consisted of Judge Humphrey (Alderman) and L. Strickland, J. C. Wells, C. E. Dole and C. Hopkins, (Councilmen). It is evident that the committee should have been appointed before passing the order.

The questions I here make (if denied) I hold myself responsible to prove, viz:—1st, that the Common Council passed the order of July 12th without reading the railroad charter and with reading only a part of the last bill—important sections not being read; and further, that in asking if there was any subscription to the capital stock of the Company and without asking if the town of Winterport to vote its interest—this road is of more importance than any other, had obtained a like loan bill to aid in building the road. The order was passed before they knew if there was any basis whatever of security which would enable to protect the interests of the city. In the words of one of the members they "were blind."

The fact is, there was no stock subscribed worth mentioning, and the town of Winterport has no loan bill to aid in building the road.

One of the requirements of the loan bill to the E. & N. A. road is that a majority of the Directors shall be citizens of Bangor. In the B. & P. R. R. Co. the city elects all the Directors, while in the Winterport R. R. loan bill drawn by a Winterport man, the city of Bangor has only three out of seven. Very modest, truly. Bangor is requested to furnish the means, Winterport the brains to build the road! Two or more legal gentlemen (both in favor of railroads) have examined the charter and loan bill, and agree in the opinion that the interests of the city are not properly protected by them.

With the above facts it would seem that the Council had their own business to attend to, ought to have induced the Common Council to have called their vote of July 12th. It will be interesting to our people also to know how or for what purpose, which I will present to them.

The first the citizens know of a loan bill to aid the road was from the public press. It was introduced into the Legislature by Hon. T. H. Cushing (if I remember) of Winterport.

Bangor men know nothing of it. No petition from any body of citizens went with it. It was a surprise to all. Fearing that perhaps he had gone too far, Mr. Cushing then came to Bangor and persuaded the City Council to pass a resolve that it approved the passage of the loan bill by the Legislature, provided however that the amount loaned should not exceed $15,000 per mile. Mr. Cushing did not consider it necessary to consult Bangor people until they had broke ground. From the first to the last, until now, the whole thing in Legislature, in City Council, and in the street, has been manipulated by him and them. The coolness of them such is admirable. In the dog days it is most refreshing. Certainly, if coolness and assurance will accomplish anything, the gentlemen must do much in the world. But the question comes in this: Is it proper for one town to take so decided measures relative to the raising of another town?

Are the people of Bangor willing to allow such things? Is it safe or equitable or right?

Is it not better for us to manage our own business? Do not we the better judges of how, when, and where our credit shall be loaned? Would it not be wiser now to stop this "whole thing," rather than allow such a precedent to be established?

The Commissioner of the General Land Office has received a letter from the surveyor of the boundary line between the State of California and Oregon, announcing that the establishment of that line so far as the 121st mile. The work is progressing as rapidly as the exceedingly unfavorable nature of the country will admit, and will probably be completed during the present month.

The plan of campaign adopted by the Cuban revolutionists is to consist in fighting the Spaniards as little as can possibly be helped, leading them over the country from month the broiling sun and, frequent rains, allowing disease to make its fearful inroads among them, and thus, when they are debilitated by various epidemics, to fall upon them with the certainty of success. No engagement is to be fought by the Cubans in which they do not possess a numerical superiority, and decided advantage over their opponents, the main object of the war being to make it too doglesough for the Spaniards to grow tired of it and withdraw from the contest.

The old pro-Slavery doctrine used to be that white men could not work in the hot regions of the South. It turns out, that with ordinary care and prudence white men can work there as well as negroes. We have it on the authority of The St. Mary's (La.) Banner that ten men had been working in St. Mary's on a plantation during the season, and that they occasionally endured the climate, sun, flies, mosquitoes, and all, better than the blacks. Other cases of the same kind are given. The history of this world, and of its civilization especially, would have been entirely a different one, if the white races of temperate regions had not proved themselves capable of standing the debilitating effects even of extreme heat and cold. In hot countries, densely populated, they have sometimes found it at least more comfortable to "lose" than to labor; but this merely proves distaste for work, not incapacity.

The Democracy says "Beware of the tiger," meaning the Democratic party. A majority of the people had happily taken that advice years before it was given by that prophetic hebdomadal.

THE INCOME TAX.—The income tax, is regarded with great horror by many who care not to think of the justice of it. We grant, to the language of the New York Post, that it needs amendment, modification, improvement; but the principle of the tax is just; it was established in England three hundred years ago. Let us take the case of the largest income return in the United States—Mr. A. T. Stewart, whose income was over $5,000,000 in 1868, and on this he paid $150,000. This is a very large tax; but, then, he had a very large income. Now repeal the income tax, and tell us what Mr. A. T. Stewart pays of taxes to the support of the government which protects our life and property? If he has houses and stores, he tenants pay the taxes. He buys goods at home, and imports them from abroad. The purchasers pay him the cost of the goods, all charges for freight, insurance, cartage, &c., and a profit besides. But when Mr. Stewart ascertains how much he has received during the year over and above all taxes, expenses, &c., then the government requires of him five per cent. on the profits, and he pays it. Otherwise he would not pay more to the government than some of its servants. Let us amend the income tax law, but not repeal it.

Political and Personal.

The Democratic majority in Kentucky, last year, was 76,323.

In Alabama the majority of negroes on the last registry was 16,184. The Radical majority in November was 8,221.

Gen. Hamilton, of Texas, the Conservative candidate for Governor, still professes to be a loyal man. He contends that the secrets who support him have become Republicans.

The Richmond Enquirer says: "Brick Pomeroy is turned up as a temperance lecturer. We have ceased to feel any interest in him. It's like a lion turned vegetarian."

The Savannah Republican proposes Millard Fillmore and Robert E. Lee for President and Vice President, in 1872.

The following item is from a California paper: "The Democrats made a great howl on the removal of W. Neely Johnson from the Sacramento Land Office. It was a great outrage, they said, for he was the friend Mark now, the democratic sympathy for the brain man. Oh, Wade say the democrats hold a convention for Police Judge and Mr. Johnson was a candidate—they'd get the nomination? Not much—Johnson received fourteen votes, and a big, fat, healthy fellow, with two good eyes, the nomination."

It was rather hard on Gov. Hoffman for Mayor Hall, to have us call the other night, to censure public servants for "junketing at some place in this connection, &c. You see, the Governor could not come to the meeting because he had been junketing at Saratoga.

Kentucky holds to the creed of Buckner and Breckinridge, and of course she is the legitimate candidate for State Treasurer by an enormous majority. The Legislature will be the same way. Ephraim is joined to his idols; let him alone."

John Quincy Adams will probably be nominated a third time for Governor by the Democrats of Massachusetts. There have been men enough to believe that Republican quarrels about prohibition were sincere.

The death of Hon. Isaac Pomroy, at Hartford, Friday last, was caused by brain disease, though he remained conscious to the last moment. He leaves a handsome property, will contains some very generous donations, including one of $20,000 to Trinity College, Hartford.

A Richmond letter states that the Washington Republican party is not likely to support Reverdy Johnson and Gen. Robert Williams for United States Senators. Mr. Johnson, a native of New York, has resided in Richmond thirty years. He was a Whig so long as the Whig party existed, and was a consistent Union man throughout the war, having charge of the correspondence with John Minor Botts. General Williams is known as the husband of the widow of Stephen A. Douglas.

FROM WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, Aug 6.

Advices from Cubans to their friends, in this city to the 25th ult., state that General Quesada still has control of communication between the east and Puerto Principe.

The inhabitants of that city are completely at the mercy of the volunteer soldiers, who are committing every description of outrages in the city and country adjacent.

It is now almost impossible to obtain supplies, and the suffering of the people is represented as very great.

Fighting is reported at several points in Gen. Jordan's department, where the Spanish troops have been reinforced by two regiments of volunteers and a battalion of regulars from Havana.

Near Santiago de Cuba, the Cubans were attacked by a superior force of Spaniards and at first were driven from their position with considerable loss, but they were rallied and reinforced by troops from General Siguoros' command and regained their position and compelled the Spaniards to retire.

It is reported that a small foraging party were captured near Remidios and another near Sagua la Grande.

The number of Cubans thus captured was 80.

It is feared that they were immediately executed.

The Cuban troops, it is reported, continue to be free from disease, and are in excellent spirits.

The commanders are moving to take advantage of the present demoralized condition of the Spanish troops.

The letters containing the above information state that within 20 days decisive action will be taken in the Eastern Department, which will give the Cubans the control of the affairs of that portion of the Island.

The Hobb's Murder Case.—Evidence on the Inquest,

BOSTON, August 5.

A jury of inquest in the case of Mrs. A. Hobbs' who was shot on Tuesday night by Mr. Thomas L White, held a session this afternoon.

Dr Alvah Hobbs was first witness examined.

He stated that he entered his parlor about 10 o'clock on Tuesday evening and entered into conversation with Mr Bullock, a medical gentleman from Providence.

His wife was at that time in her sleeping room on the same floor in a wing of the house.

As Mr Bullock was about leaving, Mrs Hobbs was sent for. She came in and entered into conversation and then sat down by a window.

A few moments from that time he heard the report of a pistol.

Mrs Hobbs arose from her seat, partly opened the door into the hall, and closed it instantly and rushed out to him, "Doctor, he's got a pistol," at the same time putting her shoulder against the door.

The husband ran towards the door and had advanced a few steps when a second discharge came.

Mrs Hobbs staggered back, threw up her arms and said "O, father, I am shot." This was the term she always applied to her husband. He immediately went to her and saw that she was fatally wounded. He left her in care of Mr Bullock and rushed to the station, and when he came back a few minutes after he found his wife dead.

Further testimony of Dr Hobbs revealed the fact that White was a quiet but reckless fellow and that on the year 1861 he was caught with a butcher's knife threatening to kill Mrs Hobbs, but was prevented by Mr Hobbs who threw him on his back and took the knife from him and gave him in charge of an officer.

Anne Conrad, a girl who has lived in Mrs Hobbs' family for some time, said she heard Mr. White reading aloud and was requested by Mrs Hobbs to request him to cease. She did not go but went to her own room, when she heard the pistol fired. She screamed and ran down stairs and saw Mr White standing at the door of the entry. She passed by him and went to Mrs Hobbs, who was lying on the floor. White came in a few minutes after, looked at Mrs Hobbs, and asked the girl if she was dead, and also said that he told Mrs Hobbs that he would shoot her. White stayed in the room until the officers came in.

Catherine B McCarty, employed in the family, and who resided with him, said she went to Mr White's room and knocked at the door. He met her with a smiling face and asked her several questions as to what visitors were in the house. She told him and said that she came up to ask him to stop reading aloud. She went to her own room and it was there she heard the two shots fired. She had several times heard him on several previous occasions threaten to kill Mrs Hobbs and also herself. When she went to the parlor White was stooping over the body of Mrs. Hobbs. The girl further stated that White never threatened to kill anybody but Mrs Hobbs, towards whom he seemed to entertain a particular spite. The session then adjourned until tomorrow.
